A Traditional Community Focused on the Future

The Royal Bafokeng Nation is a small community with big dreams. Led by a King with a strong vision for a sustainable future, the Bafokeng are an enterprising people using mineral resources to pursue an ambitious developmental agenda.

Located in the middle of the Bushveld Igneous Complex, the largest source of platinum group metals in the world, the Bafokeng have committed themselves to using this non-renewable resource to invest in a future where human capital and a diversified economy will ensure prosperity for generations of Bafokeng in the post-platinum era.

Engaged and responsive leadership, exercised at all levels of traditional governance, enable the Royal Bafokeng Nation to aim for world class results, while remaining true to the legacies of the past.
